7 (x1) Samurai—MTC Mainstage

You have never seen another show like this. Imagine mime that is not annoying, clowning that is not childish. A show with panoramic vistas, comic characters, heroic actions, and delightful eviscerations. Imagine a performance that has adults laughing like children, and children in rapt attention like adults. Imagine a unique style of theatre performance that is highly visual, packed with stunning movement, and completely original. David Gaines is the whole movie. Projected in your head.

And funny. Did I mention funny?

Mother of Invention—Rachel Browne Theatre

How can a robot be sorry? Machines don't have feelings...

Join this existential robot in its journey to discover its origins and in its encounter with a strange woman on a bridge.

Warning: this is not a comedy (even if you may think we look funny). However, 6 will provide you with moments of singular beauty and intensity.

Most of our shows are in the opening weekend, so come early!

Oh Winnipeg! A Surprising...—PTE Colin Jackson

Don't be frightened by the word 'musical'. Yes, I play my guitar and sing, but not enough to bore you. I also act a bunch of different characters that contributed to my wacky notion of trying to be a successful rock 'n roller. And there's even a sporadic slide show to keep you awake.

Encouraging word-of-mouth on my play at last year's Victoria and Vancouver Fringes, and boffo critics' reviews have not gone to my head. After all, I'm from Winnipeg. Humility is bred into our DNA, no?

Roses—The Conservatory

Comedy, Drama, Mystery...Flora. Come see why performer, writer, and Fringe veteran, Jordan Stewart, has been called "Must See Fringe" as he brings you 6 separate stories as 6 different characters in 1 all new show.

With comedy, drama, music, mystery and even the surreal (then even more comedy!) presented in Jordan's signature high-energy style, there's a little something for everyone. If you see just a single show this year, make it Roses!

P.S. 69—PTE Colin Jackson

This gem of a show finally returns after a completely sold out run in 2004.

Susan Jeremy is thrilled to meet up with these characters again. She missed them! Her favorite is "Rochar," an 8 year old who tells it like it is: "Yo Yo Ms. D, that's messed up, You don't teach our class no more. You was the best substitute we ever had cause you have a kid's brain!"

Susan is proud to report she lost 16 lbs to sex up the show!

The Box Office—Playhouse Onstage

You'd think that meeting Lauren Bacall on your birthday would make everything right with the world, but not for Jerry. He just left his partner that night and now it's back to reality—sitting in the same box office he's been in for the last seven years—dealing with the crazies, his frustrations, his parents, his ex and the same old requests. Luckily, Jerry discovers that the world is still full of possibilities. And he's ready for them.

TAKING OUT...TRASH!—Playhouse Onstage

The creator of Don't Make Fun of Jesus (BEST OF FEST 2009) is taking out the trash!

From encounters with the Klan, to waiting tables at the Waffle House, almost getting shot delivering toys, and never completely recovering after serving soft fruit to the elderly, this show shares stories of the Dirty South that are both hilarious and terrifying...they are hilarifying!

If you put Lily Tomlin, Whoopi Goldberg, Wanda Sykes, and Russell Peters in a blender... you'd get Sherri d. Sutton!
