

THE JENNY REVUE

Cost of Living

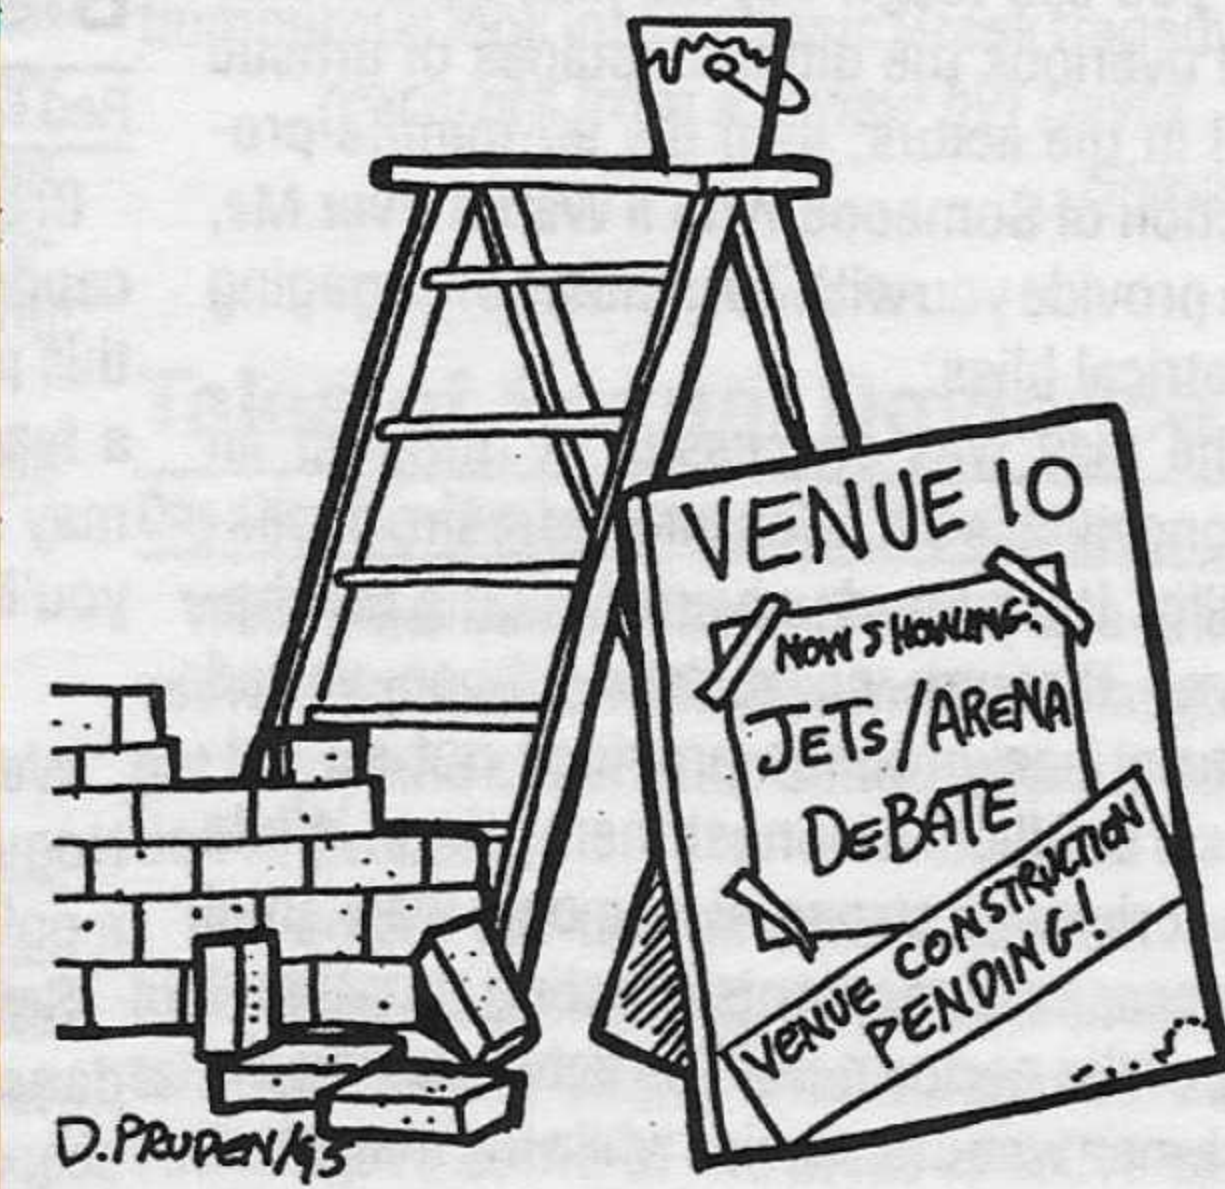

Cost of Living-Outdoor Stage

During the great deluge of Sunday evening, I sloshed my way into the newly christened Venue 13, loaded down with Jennys and tired beyond belief. I found the place hopped and hopping to a dandy little combo gutsy vocals and high energy delivery proved to be just the tonic I needed to bring me back from the near dead. I wasn't alone in my appreciation. Cost of Living's tasty mix of originals and covers had people dancing in the aisle, whooping and singing along. Their welcome appearance in Venue 13 was a by-product of the outdoor stage, providing potent fuel for the dancing feet. Check 'em out. And give 'em a good hat!

Coral McKendrick

☆☆☆☆☆

FITTING IN

D. PRUDEN/95

Just a quick note.

Jenny, Jenny, Jenny. You're not thinking. You say the reason why there are no by-lines on your reviews is that they aren't actually written by people who saw the shows. Rather, they're second hand reports from audience members. Yet you call them reviews and they sound like they're written by people who really did see the shows. Reviews are signed so that someone is answerable if they seem cowardly, sycophantic, grumpy, peevish or dull-witted. Why should we know who writes them?

Take me. Before Randal McIlroy trashed my show, I was seriously considering inviting him to my next, very select, connoisseur poison-lasting party. Now he can just forget it.

Yours,

P. S. Forgive and forget. McMillan might still make it on the list for my annual fall backhoe bailing bash, but only if he really sucks up to me and my fine cast.

☆☆☆☆☆

The Jenny Boxes

David Nishikawa—Venues 1, 3, 6, 7, 9, & 13
Let's hear it for design! Let's hear it for colour! Let's hear it for the respectability of the look.

Door Knob Productions

☆☆☆☆☆

THE YEAR IS 2193. MANKIND IS GRIPPED BY A WAR MORE HORRIBLE THAN ANY BEFORE, A WAR FOUGHT, NOT BETWEEN TWO NATIONS! BUT BETWEEN RIVAL COMEDY TROUPES!

BY BRIAN LONGFIELD. (AGE 17 THANKS TO A TEMPORAL SPACE/TIME ANOMALY).

VENUE 9 SOMETHING GOOFY!

TOILET HUMOR, NU DITY, LAME IMPROV, PRATFALLS, THE WHOLE NINE YARDS!

VENUE 10 SOMETHING POIGNANT

INTELLIGENT, WELL WRITTEN, THOUGHT-PROVOKING, A BRILLIANT LOOK INTO THE HUMAN CONDITION.

D. PRUDEN/95

EARLY EDITION

YOU MEAN THERE ARE SHOWS TOO...

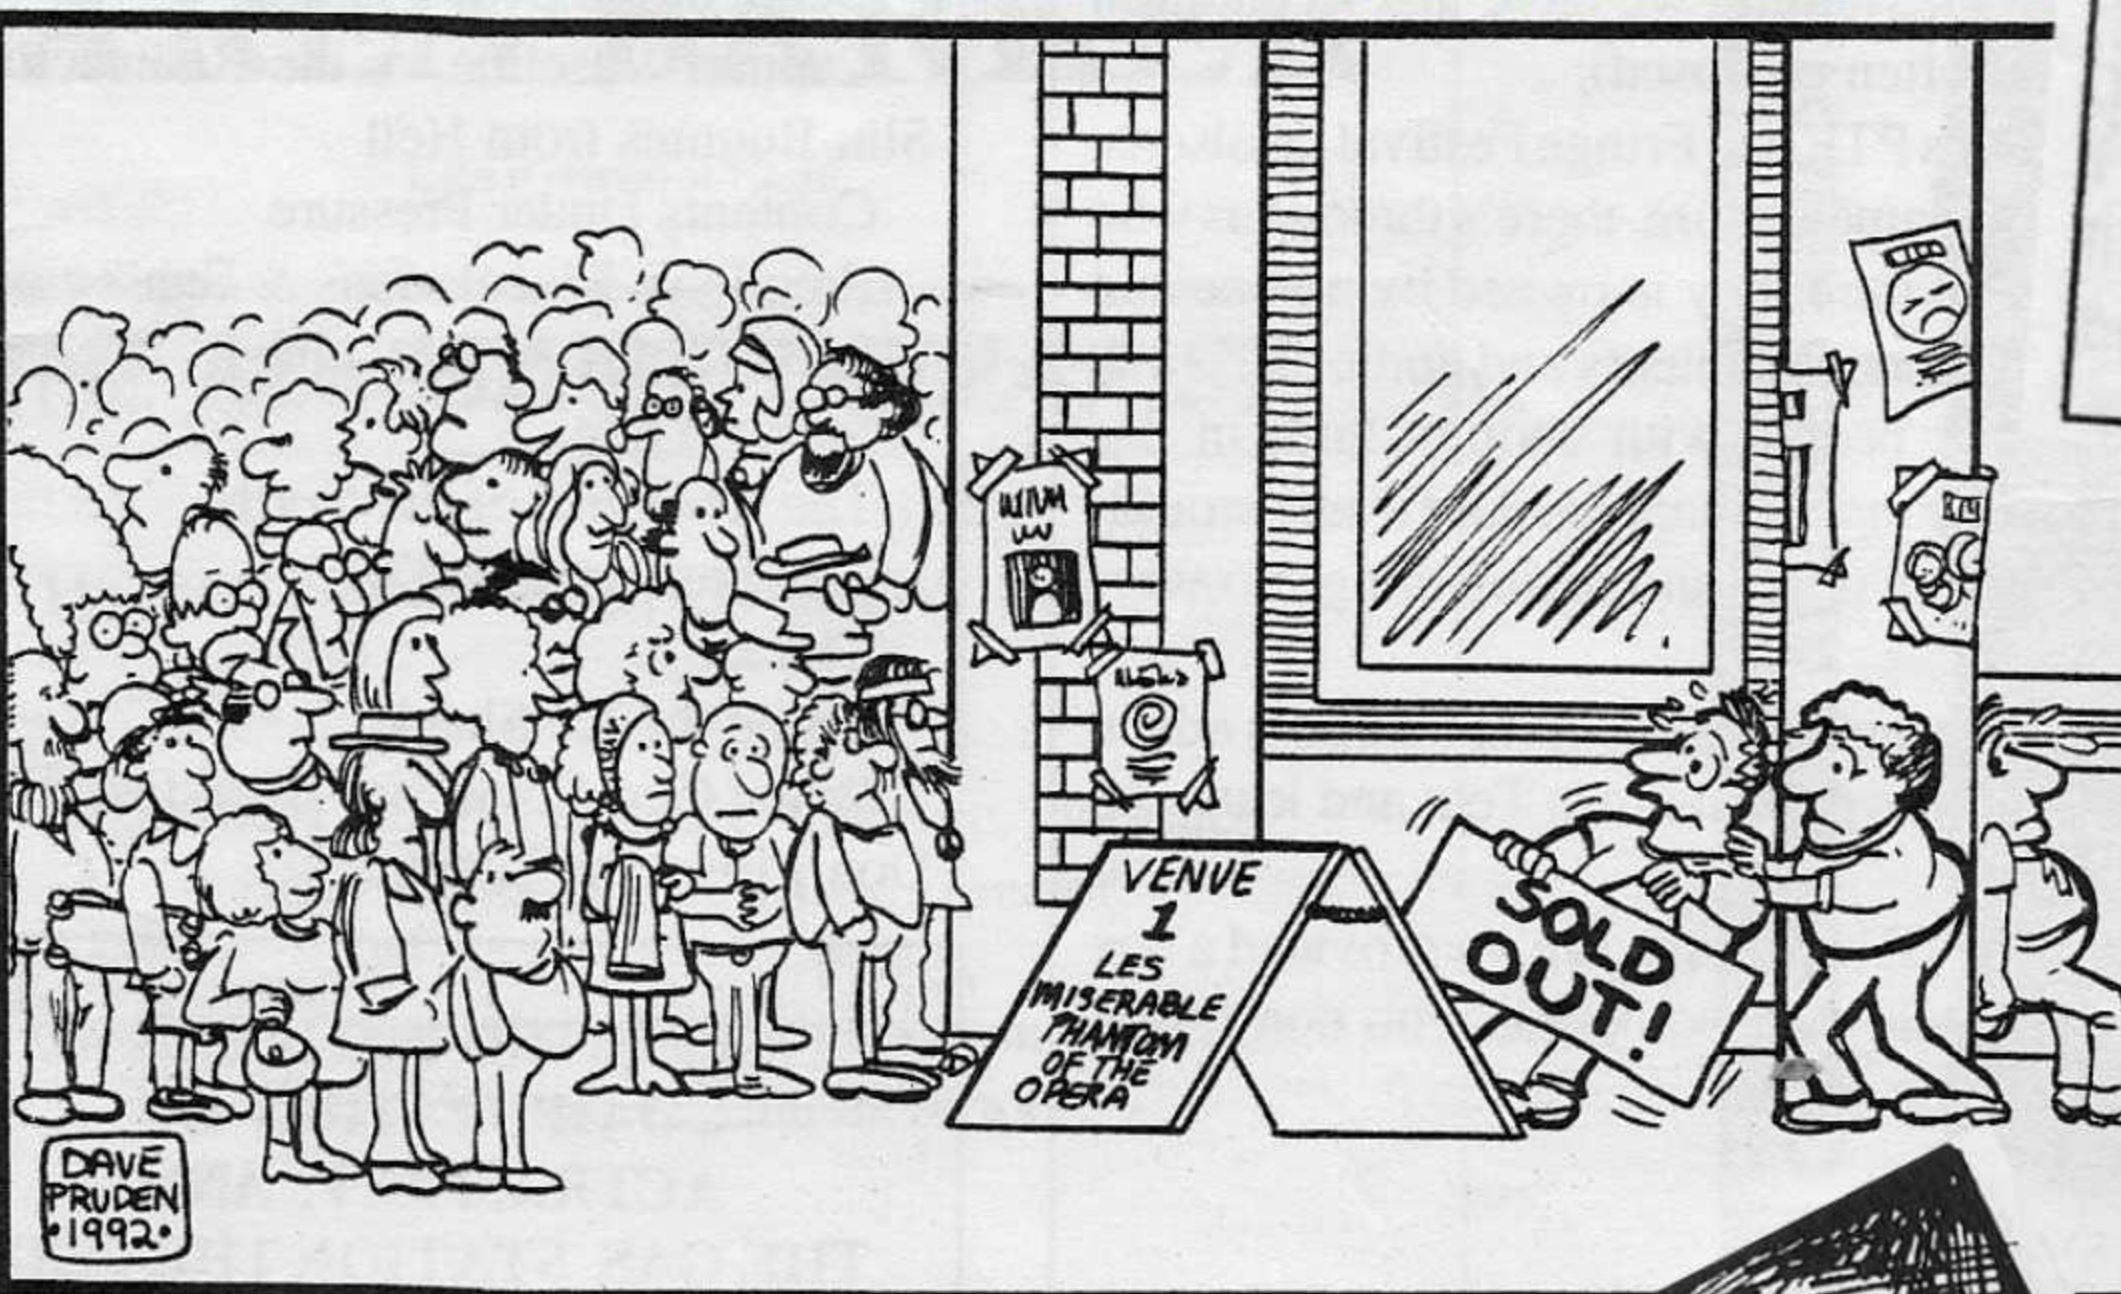

Someone out each place. Your ballots for the Jenny Awards go there too. Terrible your comments and

D. PRUDEN/95

BRAP!

D. PRUDEN/95

D. PRUDEN/95